Zubkoff Broadens Attack

Against GHI Board Policy

Open Letter #2 to Bruce Bowman:

Last week you asked if I seriously suggest that GHI should relinquish profits, control and other benefits to the community by abdicating its responsibilities to experienced businessmen. I find it exceedingly strange that you should speak of profits and control. To begin with, GHI was set up as a non-profit corporation, and its organizational structure is not setup to engage in profit making enterprises.

Furthermore, GHI discourages the sale of homes at what the Board considers an inordinate profit to the individual members. Why, now, your sudden concern with profits?

I believe that past experience indicates clearly that the GHI Board is not equipped and cannot be expected to run any business at a profit, and I am only thankful that is not running its own business at a loss. After all (and I do not condemn the Board for this), all the Board members are amateurs, devoting only part time efforts to this endeavor. They cannot hope to compete adequately in other competitive ventures, and they shouldn't try. For example, you point to the apartment houses, operated by GHI's subsidiary, GDC, as an example of a profitable operation. But you fail to mention the fact that for several years these apartments were operated at a loss to the corporation, that they were subsidized, in effect, by the members for the benefit of the non-members who lived in them, and that even today they are not operated for profit. In fact, the income they contribute to GHI is strictly a matter of bookkeeping, and if the books were kept on a more realistic basis, I suspect they would show a loss. I still submit that the management and maintenance of these apartment houses constitutes a drain on the resources of GHI, and that the operation of them is for the benefit of non-members rather than members.

You also point with obvious pride to the fact that the Board made $130,000 on the sale of the vacant land, and in view of the Board's incredible record of bungling, I find your pride astonishing. Let's look at that record. To begin with, the Board was urged to divide the land into parcels, similar to the Lakeside and Woodland Hills developments. (As you know, these two developments have become excellent assets to the community.) It has been estimated by knowledgeable people that the profits in this kind of development plan could have amounted to three or four million dollars, as well as retaining for GHI a measure of control over the nature of the development.

But instead, the Board chose to sell practically the entire package to Warner-Kanter, a builder of dubious reputation who was on FHA's nationwide black-list. There is good reason to believe that Warner-Kanter never intended to develop that land, but that they bought it for speculative purposes. In any event, when Warner-Kanter defaulted on their payments, GHI could have repossessed the land—but did not. So, Warner-Kanter sold it to Webb and Knapp, at a profit in the neighborhood of a million dollars. How big does your profit look now? I do not think that Zeckendorf, of Webb and Knapp, means to develop this land for residential purposes, either. He is noted as a commercial developer.

And where does the measure of control by GHI enter the picture. It doesn't. GHI lost all control over development of the vacant land when it sold to Warner-Kanter—and at the same time lost a potential source of real profit. Without going into all the details of the Board's considerations and the conflicts of interests involved, it is apparent to me that the Board displayed a dismal poor judgment throughout its negotiations on the vacant land. And I do not think you should pat yourself on the back for making $130,000 when in the process you lost at least a million dollars, and possibly a great deal more.

But let us put all these things aside and come to grips with the real issue. As I see it, the question is whether GHI should expand into other activities in order to make money, ostensibly for the benefit of the members. Let me make it clear that I am not opposed to housing for the elderly per se, nor am I opposed to motels or restaurants. What I am opposed to is GHI going into these ventures. I think the proper role for GHI is that of a salesman—a seller of opportunities. Communities throughout the country have been faced with problems similar to ours—the need for attracting new industries, new businesses, new homes, new residents, in order to broaden the tax base in order to attract new industries, new businesses, new homes, new residents, etc.—all in order to grow, to become a dynamic, vital, living community in the mainstream of American life. These are municipal problems, of course, but as the largest single taxpayer, GHI has a legitimate obligation to help in their solution. This sort of sales effort is an area in which GHI has a unique capability, and I believe GHI should nurture and develop that capability. I believe GHI should draw up detailed presentations, perhaps in the nature of a prospectus, to show to reputable developers. I believe the Board should spend a good portion of its time in trying to attract the kinds of businesses and homes this community needs—in selling Greenbelt as a Mecca of opportunities, instead of wasting its time on a home-made do-it-yourself program.

If there is a genuine need for a motel here, I believe that GHI should approach some reputable concerns which are already in the motel or restaurant business, such as Charter House or Marriott, for example, who are looking for new locations all the time, and sell them on the advantages of a Greenbelt location. A leasing arrangement with such concerns would insure some measure of "control" for GHI, as well as some income, as well as broadening the tax base, as well as benefiting the community and the members.

As for housing for the elderly, GHI has not yet made a case for here in Greenbelt, fully 25% of our housing units represent adequate housing for the elderly. It is absolutely impossible for GHI

Little League Parade To Open Local Season

The biggest Little League Opening Day Parade will be held on April 30 at 1:30 p.m. Forming at Plateau and Ridge, Chief of Police James Williams and Parade Marshall SFC Austin Green will head the parade with the following participants: American Legion Color Guard, Prince Georges Force No. 139 Tall Cedar of Lebanon Band, city officials, officials of Little League and the Little League Teams: Tigers, Giants, Indians, Athletics, Lions, Co-op, Cardinals, Orioles, and Farm System. Parade Marshall Austin urges all marching units to participate and make this one of the biggest opening day parades in the history of Greenbelt.

or anyone else to build housing which would rent to elderly persons at lower rates than are available now. Furthermore, I doubt that there is a need for elderly housing here on a scale large enough to warrant such a program. The relatively small demand can be met by existing units. But if the Board is genuinely interested in the problems of the aged, I think they should investigate the need for a small nursing home, even if such a venture might require a subsidy.

But for the GHI Board, I think the paramount consideration is a definition or interpretation of what constitutes a "benefit" for the members. It's easy to say that this or that will benefit the members, but so far, it looks as though we expend more efforts in providing benefits for non-members than we do for members. I do not know what the Board can point to concretely and say this is for the benefit of the members—not ultimately, but immediately. I wonder, for example, if the Board explored the possibilities of getting group hospitalization and medical policies for all the members, at the time they acquired these benefits for themselves and the employees. And I wonder if, when they were considering the need for a motel, they also considered the need, for example, for a local hospital. And I have yet to see

Fear Lack of Candidates For GHI Election

BY AL SKOLNIK

Members of Greenbelt Homes, Inc. were urged this week to give immediate thought to the naming of candidates for the GHI board of directors, to be elected in conjunction with the annual membership meeting on Wednesday, May 17, at the Center School Auditorium. Beverley Fonda, chairman of the nominations and elections committee, stated that while a few persons have expressed interest in the candidacy, no one as yet has officially announced.

Council to Limit Pool to Residents

The Greenbelt swimming pool will be restricted to residents of the city, and a new family subscription plan will be available, it was disclosed at a special city council meeting last Tuesday night. City manager Charles McDonald was instructed by the council to prepare an ordinance which would put into effect the new rates.

The "Family plan" to cost $15, which will include swimming instruction class membership if purchased before July 1. The $15 fee will apply after July 1, but without the swimming class benefit. Citizens 18 years of age and older who do not join the plan will pay 60 cents, and those age 6 to 18 will pay 25 cents. Children under 6 will be free, if accompanied by an adult. Fees for swimming classes for non-johners will be the same as last year: $2 for a child, and $3 for two or members of the same family.

Guests of residents will be permitted admission upon a fee of one dollar for those 18 and older, 50 cents 6 to 18 years of age, and under six will be admitted free with adults.

The city council will consider the ordinance for first reading at its next regular meeting May 1.

Police News

A report on Monday of someone trespassing in a car, with the added report of beer being spilled inside the car, led to the apprehension of two Greenbelt youths (not juveniles) and the subsequent issuance of a warrant against them.

The theft of a power mower from the 33 court of Ridge on Saturday night was reported to police on Sunday morning. Also received during the week was the report from a resident that ketchup had been spilled on his car.

Animal bites, one a dog and one a cat, were reported to police this week. May 1 is the deadline for unregistered animals in Greenbelt.

Registering of bicycles was to have taken place on Thursday at Center School. Chief Williams will be announcing a registration date for unlicensed bicycles at North End School soon. Subsequently, registration of bicycles will take place once a month, doing away with the weekly registrations at the Firehouse.

Chief Williams will be at a Maryland State Chief's Association on Wednesday, April 26.

"The election is less than 3 weeks away," said Fonda, "and we desire to have at least two candidates for each vacancy." There are 5 vacancies for the 2-year terms on the 9-man board.

Board members receive a salary of $500 per year with the offices of president, secretary, and treasurer receiving $750. In addition, board members are eligible to participate in GHI's group life insurance, hospital, surgical, and major medical expense plan for its employees. The insurance plan is jointly financed, with GHI paying 65 percent of the cost.

All nominees for office (including incumbents) are required to signify in writing his or her willingness to serve if elected. To help facilitate the nominating procedure, a "Candidate's Consent Form" is printed in this week's issue of the News Review.

Candidates are asked to submit this form, accompanied by a short biographical sketch. Additional copies of the form may be obtained from members of the nominations committee or from the GHI office.

The nominations committee consists of Fonda, 6-A Ridge; George Adams, 46-D Ridge; Stephen Polashik, 12-D Ridge; George Townsend, 51-D Ridge; and Amos White, 2-A Westway. Candidates are asked to return their consent forms by Saturday, May 6. If their names are to be printed on the official ballot, the forms must be in the hands of the committee one week in advance of the election.

The only qualification for office is membership in good standing in the corporation. The committee suggested that since modesty often prevents some qualified candidates from announcing their candidacy, it would appreciate receiving from fellow-members the names of likely candidates. The committee in turn will make a concerted effort to induce such persons to run.

Candidates are also needed for the 3-man audit committee and the 5-man nominations and elections committee, to be elected for one year at the same time as the board of directors. These committees provide good training for persons who may wish to become acquainted with the corporation before running for the board of directors.

Illegal Traffic?

To the Editor,

I note from last week's News Review that City Solicitor Powers and I disagree again on legal matters relating to Greenbelt. Mr. Powers is an able lawyer whose opinions I respect--except when they do not coincide with mine.

Mr. Powers and I have twice before been on opposite sides of the legal fence in Greenbelt cases. The first was the Court of Appeals case of Domchick V. Greenbelt Consumer Services, 200 Md. 36,87 A.2d 831. The second was the famous "dog and cat" case of Greenbelt Homes, Inc. v. Blyler, Circuit Court, Equity No. B-3284. The Courts' opinions in both cases make interesting reading, particularly with respect to the rights of individuals.

Concerning Mr. Powers' opinion on a "right of way by prescriptive use", the Court of Appeals also disagrees with him. It has ruled that the use must be "adverse" and "without license or permission". It has further held that "permissive use can never ripen into an easement by prescription" (see Md. Law Encyclopedia, p. 563 for citations).

Apart from its illegality, the new traffic ordinance does not serve the public interest by preventing motorists on Centerway from turning left into the city parking lot. The parking situation is not improved by adding a few spaces and preventing access to many times more.

To illustrate the kind of thinking that led to the passage of the ordinance, one councilman said a left turn from Centerway was too dangerous, but recommended going to Crescent Road and making a U-turn! (He said that was legal.)

We can no longer afford the sort of amateur planning that has retarded the growth of Greenbelt for 19 years. Compare our shopping center with those in surrounding areas. Compare our housing increase with Beltsville, College Park, Berwyn Heights, or any other nearby town. And, compare our cost of government and resulting tax rate with that of other adjacent towns.

Your article mentioned a period of 20 years. Wasn't that also the length of time Rip Van Winkle slept?

Improved Recreation Facilities Recommended

BY AL SKOLNIK

Recommendations for the improvement and proper care of the ballfields, playgrounds, and play areas, the restoration of the tennis courts, and the introduction of a tot playground program featured a special report of the Recreation Advisory Committee to the city council.

These recommendations are considered significant at this time since they are expected to be given serious consideration by the city council in connection with the 1961-62 municipal budget which will be presented to council on Monday, May 1.

The committee envisioned that its recommendations would increase the present budget of the Recreation Department but argued that the expenditures would be justified in view of the resulting future economy. It pointed out that the neglect of ballfields, park areas, playgrounds, and the tennis courts is only false economy in that it always costs more in the long run to restore these areas than to maintain them.

The committee suggested that more manpower be assigned to this maintenance task, either by adding to the recreation department staff, by transferring sufficient men from the Public Works Department to the Recreation Department, or by contracting, with respect to the tennis courts, the committee proposed that part of the costs of maintenance could be defrayed through charging players a reasonable hourly fee or a season fee.

In recommending the return of the summer tot playground program to the recreation schedule, the committee anticipated that some of the cost of the program would be met by registration fees, with the city furnishing equipment (picnic tables) and supplies (arts and crafts materials).

Members of the recreation committee submitting the report are chairman Francis White, Eileen Labukas, Elaine Skolnik, Bud Dean, and Raymond Hudson.

BALLFIELDS

The committee was particularly concerned about the poor playing condition of the ballfields and recommended a continuous program for their proper care. In order to minimize winter wear and preparations in the spring, the committee proposed that each fall the fields be harrowed and new top soil and seed be added where necessary. In this manner the fields would be in proper condition for pre-season practice as well as for opening game. In the past, the committee pointed out, it took the last-minute rush of the city and the volunteer organizations to repair these fields have been in minimum playing condition.

Among the specific improvements proposed were (1) installation of adequate drains to carry away water from all fields; (2) construction of retaining wall behind the Youth Center to prevent drainage onto Braden Field with chain link fencing for safety of spectators as well as to eliminate maintenance of wooden fence; (4) installation of additional stands for spectators at Braden Field; (5) installation of fence on Braden Field along edge of surface drainage creek to cut down number of balls lost or damaged by water; (6) replacement and/or addition to lighting fixtures on softball fields at fixtures on softball fields at Braden Field to meet minimum lighting standards; and (7) installation of flag pole at Braden Field grounds and Play Areas

A similar program of preventive maintenance was recommended by the committee for the large playgrounds and play areas. In the fall, the committee said, the grounds should committee felt that the need for it does exist as there is no current summer recreation program which is slanted toward preschoolers and toward teen-age girls 13 to 16 years of age who would act as play counselors.

Participating in the summer play school, the committee said, will be an excellent learning experience for both the older girls and their younger charges. "The job of a play counselor," the committee continued, "should prove most satisfying and appealing to the girl who is too young for working papers, yet old enough for a taste of real responsibility."

Residents adjacent to the courts should be given instructions on the care of the grounds and on playground rules, and long hoses should be made available to them for watering the grounds. The city should keep play equipment in good condition to prevent rust and should check the equipment regularly to insure highest safety standards.

The committee also proposed that (1) in order to relieve dust-bowl problem, areas be blacktopped where grass will not grow and where there is heavy concentration of play; (2) certain activities such as volleyball, badminton, and dodge ball should be confined to blacktop areas to prevent grass ruin; (3) additional basketball courts and sandlot baseball areas be set up where the need exists and the space is available; and (4) a committee of teen-agers through the Youth Center be organized to assist in the care of some of these areas and also volunteer parents.

TENNIS COURTS

The committee expressed regret at the way the tennis program in the city deteriorated to practically nothing. It felt that tennis is an important and popular family-type sport enjoyed by all ages and both sexes and a good supplement to the somewhat limited summer activities schedule for teen-age girls and young women in particular.

The committee revealed that the County Recreation Department has expressed willingness to assign a tennis instructor for the summer months, upon request by the city, but proper condition of the courts would be required for a beneficial program. The committee therefore recommended that the city consider ways of financing the resurfacing of the tennis court and noted that although the cost of repairing the entire court area could mean a greater immediate expenditure of funds, it would be economical in the long run.

TOT PLAYGROUNDS

A supervised tot play school had been conducted by the Recreation Department at certain periods in the history of the city and was a popular program. The program would be under the supervision of the Recreation Department, which would operate a training program for the play counselors. This program would consist of a Youth Center Clinic directed by qualified nursery, kindergarten, and other specialists to inform girls of the need of 3 1/2 to 5 year olds and a workshop where the girls would learn specific arts and crafts, games, songs, and stories geared to the 3 1/2 - 5 year-old-age groups. The committee suggested that the 4-H Child Care Project might be used as a guide for this training.

The city would give girls certificates upon completion of the training program. Each girl would then be given an opportunity to serve at some time during the six-week period at one of the tot playgrounds. The city would set up a register of qualified play counselors which would be available to Greenbelt families seeking to employ counselors.

Pills Can Interfere With Driving Ability

Modern medical science has developed a wide variety of pills, including tranquilizers, anti-histamines and other decongestants, that may do wonders for the body but can, under certain conditions, interfere with driving ability, according to the D. C. Division, American Automobile Association.

Warning that an increasing number of Americans are taking tranquilizers for anxiety and decongestants for colds, the AAA club quoted medical experts at the National Institutes of Health as saying that the alertness of a driver often is considerably reduced by such pills.

Two Bicycles Collide

(Ed. Note: Continuing our policy of encouraging young journalists, we print another fine story submitted by a young reporter.)

By ROBERT M. STEWART, Age 9

It happened about 4 o'clock Wednesday, April 18 on Ridge Road close to 55 court. The bike ridden by Ricky Newkirk who lives at 20 G Hillside hit the curb. Then Claudio who lives at 3 B Laurel Hill accidentally ran into Ricky Newkirk's bike and his bike flew over Ricky Newkirk and his bike. Ricky got cut in the back of his head. Claudio's front wheel practically came off. The speedometer and parts that hold on the wheel were caught in the spokes, and one of Claudio's friends carried his bike home for him.

THE NATIONAL LEAGUE STORY

By Lee Allen

This book, by the historian for the National Baseball Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, New York, is the first history of the league which has operated continuously since 1876.

In telling the story, Mr. Allen naturally places emphasis on the colorful and famous players and managers—Cap Anson, Honus Wagner, Wee Willie Keeler, Tinkers, Evers, and Chance; John J. McGraw, Cy Young, Rogers Hornsby, Mel Ott, Warren Spahn, and many others. He also brings to light interesting information about the early history of the game, the organization of the league, the World Series and how it began, famous games and great plays of the past.

A special section of rare letters and photographs of early players adds flavor to the narrative. A brief statistical appendix provides information that will make the book important as a reference.

Mr. Allen, who was a sports announcer in Philadelphia and Cincinnati and a feature writer for the Cincinnati Enquirer before going to Cooperstown, also wrote The Cincinnati Reds, 100 Years of Baseball, and The Hot Stove League. For his new book he has had access to manuscripts and official documents never before made available and has interviewed many players, managers, owners, and fans.

DAWN

By Elie Wiesel

Translated from the French by Frances Frenaye

This is a short, brilliant novel of unparalleled intensity by the author of the widely-praised Night.* It takes place in British-controlled Palestine during the course of one night as two men wait for dawn—and for death. Elisha, a young underground fighter, has been assigned to shoot, in cold blood, a captured British officer in reprisal for the execution of a Jewish prisoner. As Elisha waits through the long night, the experiences and associations of his short life pass before his eyes. Since he was a small boy in Poland he has known nothing but death and violence. His entire family was swallowed up in the Nazi inferno. He alone survived, and he "had seen God die" at Auschwitz. Now he is called upon to inflict the ultimate violence upon a fellow human being.

The suspense becomes almost unbearable as the hour approaches for Elisha to go down into the cellar chamber and face the man he must kill. When he finally meets his victim and finds pity instead of anguish in his eyes, the impact is shattering. The horror of violence, no matter how justifiable the cause, becomes a terrible reality. The novel moves like a Greek tragedy to its inexorable conclusion.

Few books of our time combine such dramatic suspense and such deep insight into the human mind and heart.

Elie Wiesel is a reporter at the United Nations for one of Israel's largest newspapers. He has completed a second novel and is at work on a third.

FICTION

AFTER PENTECOST

by RICHARD BANKOWSKY $4.95

When Richard Bankowsky's A Glass Rose, was published in 1958, its critical reception was of a kind rarely accorded a first novel. AFTER PENTECOST provides unequivocal confirmation for those readers and critics who predicted an important literary career for Mr. Bankowsky. Concerning the tangled relationships of two Polish-American families, AFTER PENTECOST moves backward and forward in time between events which, for the most part, took place in 1926 and in 1946, shifting in scene from Germany to New Jersey to Poland. The author has the rare faculty of engendering sustained interest and excitement for the reader while at the same time preserving intact the deeper meanings of his story. AFTER PENTECOST will surely be called one of the outstanding works of fiction for 1961.

A PASSION FOR LIFE

by DIANA CHANG

Built around a sensational theme, this is the story of what happens when life, not death, occurs through an act of violence, and of whether that life can in conscience be denied. When a young New England woman is raped by a wandering stranger and becomes pregnant, her tragic dilemma is compounded by her husband's position as a teacher in the socially rigid community. The problems of others caught up in the central crisis—the Jewish doctor fighting the town's prejudice; the gifted artist whose nonconformity makes him the local pariah; the rejected daughter of the town's most respected citizens—all brilliantly illumine the novel's true theme: the civilized man's approach to the unwanted.

A HISTORY OF RUSSIA

by JESSE D. CLARKSON $10.00

The kingdom of Rus was founded by Norse invaders in the ninth century. What has happened to Russia between the time the Vikings dropped anchor and Sputnik took off is brilliantly chronicled here, in a book which is not a survey, but a remarkably thorough study of more than a thousand colorful years. Political, social, cultural, intellectual, and economic developments are traced through their growth and changes; nearly one-third of the book is devoted to the period since the 1917 Revolution, and recent events covered are as immediate as Khrushchev's visit to the United States.

Here is the colorful and exciting pageant of Russia's successive autocratic systems, and of its rulers—tribal chieftains, czars, and commissars—from the pen of a truly eminent scholar and stylist. The author, professor of history at Brooklyn College, has written widely in the field of Russian affairs. Illustrated with 16 pages of photographs.

SAN FRANCISCO

Magic City

BY Cora Older

This is the story of San Francisco from the turn of the century to the present, how it has grown to be one of the most cosmopolitan and much-admired cities in the United States today.

Cora Older, the widow of Fremont Older, the well-known San Francisco newspaper editor, begins her history at the time of the San Francisco fire of 1906. Like most San Franciscans and the city itself, the Olders had to begin anew from the deluge of the earthquake and the couple watched "modern" San Francisco grow from the ruins of the fire. It was only after 1906, says Mrs. Older, that San Francisco began to build itself into a city of permanence and distinction and started to grow toward the city of international renown it is today.

In looking backward over half a century of San Francisco history, Mrs. Older covers a wide range of topics—from bridge building to beatniks. There's a chapter on the expansion of universities in and around San Francisco, another on the San Francisco newspaper world, some sketches of San Francisco's leading businessmen and financiers over the years, its society leaders, a look at what San Francisco was like during the last war, a survey of the expansion of transportation and much more.

As wife of the editor of the San Francisco Call-Bulletin, Mrs. Older was a part of all that was going on in San Francisco. From her close observation of the changing scene, she has written a fascinating portrait of a fascinating city, a book sure to delight all San Franciscans and certain to interest the rest of us who are curious about how this city came to be what it is today—probably the most often-praised and most highly-praised city in these United States.

TIGER BY THE TAIL

And Other Science Fiction Stories

BY Alan E. Nourse

A fearful journey across the scorching bright side of the planet Mercury . . . a strange invasion from another dimension . . . a disastrous mining operation in the Venusian mud . . . a frightening training course for a future starship pilot . . . These are only a few of the science-fiction adventures you will encounter here.

Some of the stories are breathlessly exciting, some are charged with suspense and some are happily humorous, but all are first and foremost good science fiction, the cream of this popular writer's stories from the pages of Astounding Science Fiction, Galaxy Science Fiction and other leading SF magazines.

Alan E. Nourse, a young doctor, is equally at home writing short stories and producing books for teenagers and for adults. Harper recently brought out his Nine Planets: Astronomy for the Space Age. For us Dr. Nourse has done three science-fiction novels for young adults: Rocket to Limbo, Scavengers in Space and Star Surgeon.

THE MAN FROM NOWHERE

BY Joan Fleming

author of Maiden's Prayer

A novel of crime that not only displays all of Joan Fleming's ability to provide a fascinating plot, mounting suspense and a plausible solution, but one that tells a haunting, powerful story with deceptive simplicity and great skill.

This man from nowhere arrived in the English village of Stargill on a windy October day carrying only a shabby canvas bag. He seemed unexceptionable, kind and helpful. He got a job at the sawmill, settled in and was considered a friend. But one day he discovered the badly-battered body of old Ma Perkins. Suddenly he was a "foreigner," and following the discovery of a second murder, the village became frightened, suspicious and cruel. Suspect Number One was that man from nowhere.

As she did in Maiden's Prayer, Malice Matrimonial and Miss Bones, Joan Fleming has written a top drawer mystery for the discriminating.

Bicycle Registration

Police chief James Williams was invited to participate in a special spring cycling workshop, which met Friday, March 24, in Washington. The annual affair sponsored by the Commissioners' Youth Council and the Recreation Conference, Health and Welfare Council, of the District of Columbia. Williams was invited to represent the only city in the entire metropolitan area to require both registration and inspection of bicycles. Arlington and Alexandria register and license bicycles but do not inspect them.

The history of bicycle registration in Greenbelt goes back to 1940, when registering was done on a voluntary basis only. In 1942 the ordinance governing the registration of bicycles on a compulsory basis was passed. This ordinance, which is considered a model of what such ordinances should contain, is still in effect. According to chief Williams, the registering of bicycles is of immense help to police in recovering lost or stolen bicycles and in the psychological impact on the young rider. In registering his vehicle, the child has a feeling of importance not unlike that of his father in registering his automobile, Williams pointed out.

Registration of bicycles is done every Saturday morning from 10 to 12. At this time the young rider is given a printed sheet listing the laws governing the use of bicycles. His vehicle is inspected for lights (if he plans to ride at night), for brakes, and for a generally safe mechanical condition. If the bicycle passes inspection, the rider receives a license to operate. The public schools have cooperated with the city program by requiring that all bicycles which are brought to the school yard shall be registered and equipped with a lock. It is expected that in the future the police may institute a one-day-a-month inspection and registration on school premises, in addition to the Saturday morning program.

Greenbelt's annual spring bicycle rodeo also contributes to the city's total bicycle program. At that time all bicycles are inspected again. Those passing inspection are given a special sticker.

Parents Set Up School For "Solid" Learning

Amidst the clamor in the nation for aid to education, a small group of parents in Annapolis, Maryland has quietly banded together to pledge $20,000 for down payment on new and larger quarters for the non-profit elementary school their children attend.

Called the Key School, the educational facility was started three years ago in Annapolis by parents who wanted their children to receive a solid elementary education on which all later and higher education could be built.

Beginning with 17 students in an old house looking out over the Chesapeake Bay, the school from its inception stressed homework as a fundamental part of its program, instructors who teach selected subjects, and French as a normal means of communication from the first grade up.

Emphasis on social adjustment, manners, and extra activities are considered in the realm of parental responsibility. A child is expected to act within the normal standards of decency at school and to adhere to the few rules it has established.

With an enrollment of 70 children this year and 100 expected next year, the walls and also the parent-teacher innovations for providing extra space in the school could be expanded no further.

Science Fair Honors

BY DEBI WYATT

We are very proud to announce that Alice Cynthia Goldberg, 14, of Greenbelt (14-W Hillside) came out with very high honors at the Prince Georges Area Science Fair. Her project was on "A Mathematical Basis for Musical Composition - Part II." She worked with Chopin's Nocturne in E# and derived a pattern mathematically related to the energy that the ear receives.

Local AuthorsHonored

An overflow crowd of more than a hundred turned out to greet authors residing in this country Sunday at the College Park Municipal Center, sponsored by Friends of Libraries of Prince Georges County in recognition of National Library Week.

Among the authors introduced was Allen Drury, resident of Fort Foote in Prince Georges County, author of Advise and Consent, who became a charter member of the Friends group a year ago. Drury said he was working on a sequel to his best seller novel of Washington life, which he expected would be finished at the end of this year.

Other authors introduced, included former Greenbelter, Dr. Charlotte Smith, author of Carl Becker: On History and Climate of Opinion; and Albert Herling, 13-M Ridge, state chairman of the labor committee for National Library Week, was introduced as author of The Soviet Slave Empire. Herling, is editor of the Trade Unionist, AFL-CIO Washington, D. C. paper, and public relations director of the American Bakery and Confectionery Workers International Union, AFL-CIO.

Fair Alice came out with a first place in mathematics and first grand award of the entire fair. Alice went on to the Area Fair and once again won first place in mathematics and first grand award of the Junior division.

Other Greenbelters who came out on top at the Area Fair are Naomi Garon, 19-M Ridge, who won second place in Medical Sciences, and Judith Bragonje, 45-A Ridge, who won third in Medical Sciences. Greenbelt Junior High as a whole came out second in awards for the whole junior division.

School Registration

The Board of Education of Prince Georges County Public Schools has designated Friday, May 5, and Friday, June 2, as registration dates for pre-school children who will be entering school for the first time in September, 1961. Parents may register their children at North End or Center School on these dates from 9 a.m. until 3:30 p.m. Children must be six years of age on or before January 1, 1962.

It is necessary to present the child's birth certificate at the time of registration, as well as evidence of the child's vaccination and immunization against diphtheria.

The registration of pre-school children on May 5 and June 2 is essential so that the staff of the Board of Education may complete the necessary planning arrangements for all children who will be attending Prince Georges County public Schools during the 1961-62 school year, which begins on Tuesday, September 5, 1961.

Lassie League Seeks Support

Over the years the complaint has been, "everything for the boys, and nothing for the girls." Last year the Greenbelt Recreation Department did something about it. Under the direction of Warren Leddick, Superintendent of Recreation, and Bud Dean, a Girls Softball League (9 years - 14 years), known as the Lassie League, was formed. Games were played at North End School.

Last year the league enrolled over 80 girls, and this year we hope to better this figure, but to accomplish this goal help is needed in the form of mothers or other women interested in the welfare of girls. At least sixteen women are needed for managing the league. On Tuesday, May 9, at 8:30 p.m., there will be a meeting of interested women at the Youth Center.

June Dedication For Youth Center

The dedication of the Youth Center is planned for the early part of June. At a meeting on April 8, the dedication committee formulated tentative plans for the big event which will be held just outside the entrance to the Youth Center. Following the program, which will include a prominent speaker, skit, musical selections, etc., open house is scheduled. The members of the teen club will serve as guides.

Charles McDonald, City Manager, informed the committee that the sidewalks and roadway leading to the Youth Center will be completed within a month. Sodding or seeding of the area will also be accomplished.

Beverley Fonda was elected chairman of the dedication committee and Sandy Ciatto, secretary. Other members of the committee are Ina Stewart, Elaine Skolnik, Edward Burgon, Kenny Powell, Francis White, David Champion, Charles McDonald, Warren Leddick, and Joseph O'Loughlin.

Credit Union Offers Insurance for Savers

The deposits in savings accounts of members of the Greenbelt Federal Credit Union now are matched by life insurance up to a maximum of $2,000 of coverage.

Under the terms of the policy, carried and paid for by the Credit Union, the actual amount of insurance coverage is determined by the balance in each member's savings account. The following is the coverage for the different age groups: 6 months through 54 years, 100 percent of savings balance; 55 through 59 years, 75 percent; 60 through 65 years, 50 percent; up to 6 months, and 65 through 69 years, 25 percent. There is no coverage after age 70. Initially, the applicable date by which to determine an age group is April 15, 1961, the effective date of the coverage. After that date, the age group will be determined by the date of the deposit. In case of joint accounts, the name which appears first on the account card is considered the insured member for the purpose of this insurance.

The insurance is carried with Pilot Life Insurance Company of Greensboro, North Carolina, an affiliate of Jefferson Standard Life Insurance Company.

Sleeping Giant

Co-op members here defeated, 2 to 1 a bylaw amendment that would have let as few as 50 members call a mail ballot referendum on any decision of the directors or the annual meeting.

Advocates said it would awaken "the sleeping giant" of co-op membership, give members more authority, responsibility, and interest. Opponents said it would hamstring the directors, subject them to constant delay, and result in costly balloting. They noted that 10% of the co-op's 17,000 members now may call a referendum.

Behind Locked Doors

By RITA FISHER

Words are really inadequate to describe the shock we had in store for us as we made our monthly visit to St. Elizabeth's Hospital. For those reading this column for the first time, perhaps mention of the fact that a group of Greenbelt women have been visiting the ladies of Ward CT-6 at the hospital every third Wednesday of the month for over three years and have come to know some of the women very well will be preface enough to this story. We asked for permission to take time out from our party so that we could visit one of our dearest friends who had been moved from the ward to a section of the hospital where the patients were all bed-ridden.

With a nurse's aid showing the way, we were led through countless basements where everything seemed cold and dreary. Now and again we would come to a room on the side where some patients were working. We passed one room where a group of the women were sewing; another room held typewriters. And as we apparently went from building to building, via the basements, never coming out in the open, the doors would be unlocked before us and locked shut behind us.

We finally arrived at the building we were being taken to and were led upstairs and then told to wait in a little waiting room between two wards that were behind locked doors. We could hear one woman moaning. A nurse came from one of these wards wheeling in a woman who looked awful. No other words could describe it. We thought at first that this was another woman who was being wheeled through but then the nurse turned the chair and we realized that this was our dear friend Mrs. D., whom we had affectionately called "Mother." We had known Mrs. D. as a tall, dignified, well-dressed, smiling woman who stood erect even though there was a hump on her back. We remembered her as a woman who had always had her hair fixed just so. That day we saw a different person. She had been fixed up for our visit but her face was dark, her eyes staring, her hair straight and obviously cut shorter, and she rocked back and forth. She tried to talk to us but we realized that talking was difficult for her. She tried so hard to tell us things. But we couldn't take the shock. We told her that we had to get back to the party and the nurse took her away. We cried. We cried over the transformation and we were heartbroken. Many of us felt as if she were a close relative of ours who had undergone this Jekyll-Hyde change. I shall always remember Mrs. D. as the smiling woman who greeted each of us with a kiss on the cheek, calling us darling and asking us about our families. I doubt that she will ever return to Ward CT-6 and I know that there will always be something missing from our visits.

I went over to visit with our "deaf" friend Miss G. She spoke to me right away but so softly that I could not make out the words. I'm going to have to break the news to her next time of the death of one of our ladies. Mrs. Florence Strickland, a very lovely woman from Greenbelt, and a person who had gained Miss G.'s confidence enough to be able to sit and really talk, passed away and was buried Sunday at the Greenbelt Cemetery.

Before we went over to see Mrs. D., I sat and talked with a tall heavy woman who seemed quite normal. Once she told me that she was in the hospital because they thought she wanted to kill a man. She scoffed at this when telling me about it and went on to tell me how she was brought up around firearms and had no such intentions. She also complained to me that the hospital was holding back some money that belonged to her. She is a very bright and intelligent looking woman and seems so sure that all she says is true. I'll write more about her in another story because she and I have become friends.

Repairs

The city's road repair program is still continuing. This week--probably on Thursday and Friday--the east parking lot in the Center will be largely blocked off to cars so that the pavement can be repaired. City employees are expecting to have the work completed by the end of the working day on Friday, so that the lot will be open for shoppers on Friday evening.

When The SIREN BLOWS

A report from the Rescue Squad indicated that the ambulance responded to eight calls during the week. Two of these calls were in response to brush fires and the ambulance went to the scenes with the fire trucks.

Coincidentally, there were two reported fires on two different days from the same location. Both times the call came for a fire in the basement of an apartment building on Crescent. Both were minor fires involving trash cans.

There were three brush fire calls this past week. Two were located here in town and one was on the B-W Parkway on April 19. The men were called to fill in for the Beltsville men on April 21 and again they were asked to fill in for Glendale on April 23. Also on April 23, some of the men attended a drill for Advanced Firefighting Course.

A good time was had by all who attended the Spring dance last Friday. The evening was given an added lift when Jack Snoddy arrived and had nerve enough to show us all that he is not finished taking those cha-cha lessons yet. Wait until the next dance, huh, Jack?

Board Policy

any concrete benefits ensue from that $130,000.

I think the Board should use that money to help the members, the present members, not the non-members. And an excellent way to help members would be to adopt a refinancing plan which would enable those who choose to sell their homes to do so - at a profit for both the member and the corporation. A perfectly adequate and workable plan has been submitted to the Board, and I believe the membership has approved it. Yet the Board has done nothing about it, and refinancing the sale of homes is becoming an increasingly acute problem which will have some grave consequences. Action on this problem will have to be taken before long, and I cannot understand why the Board is procrastinating.

In short, I think there are a great many possibilities for the Board to explore which could result in immediate benefits to the members, and I strongly urge them to do so.

RESOLUTION

TO AMEND THE GREENBELT CITY CHARTER, SECTION 731A, PERSONNEL BOARD-APPOINTMENT, REMOVAL, DUTIES.(ORDINANCE NO. 419, GREENBELT CITY COUNCIL, MAY 2, 1960)

WHEREAS, A review by City Council of the wide scope of problems and duties assigned to the Personnel Board under Section 731A of the Greenbelt City Charter indicates an abnormal workload for a part-time Board of only three members, as provided in Section 731A; and

WHEREAS, A review of the qualifications and recommendations of available volunteer personnel for said Personnel Board, residing in the City of Greenbelt, suggests to Greenbelt City Council the advisability of increasing the Board to five members, now therefore:

No member of the Personnel Board shall hold any other elective or appointive office in the city government. Members of the Board must be residents of, and residing in, the City of Greenbelt.

"The Board shall have power and shall be required to:

(1) Advise the Council and Manager on problems concerning personnel administration.

(3) Perform such other duties with reference to personnel administration, not inconsistent with this charter, as the Council may specify by ordinance or resolution.

(4) The Board shall have the power to establish, amend, repeal, or add to rules on its own initiative governing its operation, but such rules shall be in conformity with this charter."

(5) Conduct hearings, public or private, if requested by the employee, in accordance with this charter and its own rules on appeals filed under the provisions of Section 754 of this charter as amended."

Southway Works

By the middle of this week all heavy grading on Southway was to have been completed. Work was slowed somewhat over the weekend and again on Monday evening when bulldozers knocked off a valve for the water main which lies under the roadway. A wait until workmen from the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission could repair the damage caused some delay in each instance.

After the heavy equipment is removed from the Southway site, the street will be graded, graveled, and treated to keep down dust. Work will then begin immediately on laying the concrete curbing for the islands and separation strip which will make Southway a dual highway down to about 10 court, where it will taper in to its present width. A separation in the center island to permit traffic movement across the highway will be placed near the present entrance to the Co-op service station.

Peak load . . . up 10% to 1,272,000 kilowatts . . .
highest demand ever placed upon PEPCO. But we were more than ready.

Customers . . . up 2% to 358,000 . . . representing an increase of 27,064 customers over the past 5 years.
